

Protect your Pets

Help your pets remain happy and healthy during the colder months by following these simple guidelines.

- ❄ Don't leave dogs outdoors when the temperature drops. Most dogs and all cats are safer indoors except when taken out for exercise. Regardless of the season, shorthaired, very young or old dogs and ALL cats should never be left outside without supervision.
- ❄ No matter what the temperature, wind chill can threaten a pet's life. If your dog is an outdoor dog, however, he/she must be protected by a dry, draft-free dog house that is large enough to allow the dog to sit and lie down, comfortably, but small enough to hold in his/her body heat. The floor should be raised a few inches off the ground and covered with cedar shavings or straw. The house should be turned to face away from the wind, and the doorway should be covered with waterproof burlap or heavy plastic.
- ❄ Pets who spend a lot of time outdoors need more food in the winter because keeping warm depletes energy. Routinely check your pet's water dish to make certain the water is fresh and unfrozen. Use plastic food and water bowls rather than metal; when the temperature is low, your pet's tongue can stick and freeze to metal.
- ❄ Warm engines in parked cars attract cats and small wildlife that may crawl up under the hood. To avoid injuring any hidden animals, bang on your cat's hood to scare them away before starting your engine.
- ❄ The salt and other chemicals used to melt snow and ice can irritate the pads of your pet's feet. Wipe the feet with a damp towel before your pet licks them and irritates his/her mouth.
- ❄ Antifreeze is a deadly poison. Wipe up spills and store antifreeze and all household chemicals out of reach.

Probably the BEST prescription for protecting your pet during the winter is to keep them inside with you and your family. The happiest dogs are those who are taken out frequently for walks and exercise but kept inside the rest of the time. Dogs and cats are social animals who crave human companionship. Your animal companions deserve to live indoors with you and your family.
