Bring Organic Gardening to Your Backyard

On Thursday, Jan. 15, gardening enthusiasts with a desire to go organic will have the opportunity to attend a FREE Organic Gardening: Health Soil, Health Food course. The one-hour course begins at 7 p.m. at Schimelpfenig Library, 5024 Custer Rd.

The Coppell Community Garden will share what 10 years of organic gardening has taught them. Participants will learn about soil compilation, water usage and insect control. However the best lesson will be how to produce healthy food for your family in a safe and earth-friendly manner.

The course is provided as part of the Learn Green to Live Green series, a partnership between Library Alive and the City of Plano Sustainability and Environmental Services Department.
