Plano's Web Site Receives International Recognition

The City of Plano Web site has received an Award of Distinction from The Communicator Awards. The Web site was recognized in the Government category.

Plano's Web site, www.plano.gov, is managed by an internal team of two professionals: Webmaster Melissa Peachey and Assistant Webmaster Lillian Tse. They work closely with the City's Technology Services Department to create a secure, visually-appealing and user-friendly site.

Along with news and information about City programs and events, Plano's site features online water bill payment, the boards and commission application, permit applications, volunteer registration and recreation course registration. The site is a portal for watching the award-winning Plano Television Network online, normally viewed on Time Warner channel 16 and Verizon Fios channel 30.

The leading international awards program, The Communicator Awards honor creative excellence for Communication Professionals. In 2009, more than 9,000 entries from companies and agencies of all sizes were received, making it one of the largest award programs of its type in the world.

The Communicator Awards is sanctioned and judged by the International Academy of the Visual Arts, an invitation-only body of top-tier professionals from communications, advertising, creative and marketing firms.
